Presents

Celebrating 50 Years of the Civil Rights Act of 1964

APABA is proud to present its annual Asian Pacific American Heritage Month Event: A Celebration of the 50 Years of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

APABA will be commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, with a focus on civil rights issues of today, ranging from experiences with discrimination, to rising above and combating injustice, to celebrating Asian American and Pacific Islander (API) identities. The event will begin with a light reception followed by a performance by local artists who have performed with Kollaboration.

Kollaboration is a nonprofit organization, annual talent showcase, and grassroots movement designed to disrupt the status quo of mainstream media. They see artistry as one of the most effective and inspiring forms of activism. Their mission is to build bridges, out-create negative stereotypes, and promote diversity.

Following the performances, the event will shift into a moderated panel discussion will on an overview regarding the history of the Civil Rights Act and its impact today with respect to anti-discrimination at the workplace and facilities that serve the API community as well as other minority groups.

Panelists:

- Ahilan T. Arulanantham, ACLU of Southern California
